U. S. GRAND JURY INQUIRY ORDERED INTO LIQUOR PLOTS BARED BY ECKERT MURDER

Federal Attorney Ross to Question Dry Agents on Law Violations.

ONE LICENSE REVOKED.

William Tiernan, Brother of Judge, Accused by Shevlin Assistant.

The charges of wholesale violations of the Federal prohibition law in Staten Island growing out of the investigation of the murder of Frederick P. Eckert, arch-boodlegger, are to be the subject of a Federal Grand Jury investigation, beginning Monday. Leroy W. Ross, United States Attorney in Brooklyn, includes Staten Island in his jurisdiction. He served notice to-day on J. J. Quigley, assistant to Supervising Prohibition Agent Shevlin, to produce before him Monday Agents McGuire, Weldon, Einstein and all who have been in any way responsible for conditions in Richmond County.

Ross's announcement followed the declaration of Joseph H. Maloy, District Attorney of Richmond that he was not concerned with violations of the Volstead Act, but would turn over all evidence that came to him incidentally to the Eckert inquiry to Ross. Maloy said he had no reason to look into the conduct of William P. Tiernan, brother of County Judge Tiernan (who was Maloy's sponsor in political life), a truckman and until recently a licensed vendor of liquors for medicinal purposes.

Quigley has charged that Maloy has found their way from Tiernan's stores to saloons. There are other reports that when saloons have been raided Federal agents have attempted to conceal Tiernan's former ownership of liquors.

William Tiernan's license as a distributor of medicinal liquors has been revoked.

McGuire and Weldon were questioned for several hours to-day by Maloy, Assistant District Attorney Norton and Detective Captain Sullivan at the Richmond County Court House. They admitted freely that they knew Eckert and some of the men arrested for his murder. They said they made the acquaintance of these men and frequented the Manhattan Hotel, William Maloy's resort at South Beach, in the course of their official duties, but asserted they knew nothing of the murder of Eckert or its motives except that they had heard rumors of bad feeling between several members of Eckert's social circle, due to charges of undue interest they took in each other's women folk.

Max Katz, the third man held for the murder, was remanded to the county jail for an additional twenty-

BROOKLYN BANDITS HOLDUP PAYMASTER AND GET $10,000

Threaten to Kill Man With Money if He Makes an Outcry.

Three bandits this afternoon held up the paymaster for a contractor erecting a new building for the American Machinery and Foundry Company at Second Avenue and 55th Street, Brooklyn, and got away with the payroll, estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000.

The men had secreted themselves in the building and as the paymaster entered, carrying a box, with the money in pay envelopes, pointed guns at him and threatened to kill him if he made any outcry. They grabbed the box, leaped into a waiting automobile and the last seen of them they were heading up 55th Street, in the direction of Fourth Avenue.

There were about one hundred or more men at work in the building at the time. No one recognized the bandits, and the paymaster said he never saw them before.

The paymaster as had been his custom on Friday afternoons, went to the bank to draw the money. He placed the money in individual envelopes to pay off the employees, and put them all in the box, which he slung from a strap over his shoulder. The bandits evidently knew just where the paymaster would enter the building and he had not proceeded more than 20 feet from the street, when he found himself looking into three revolvers.

"Not a word out of you," said the leader. "If you make a sound we'll blow your head off," he was told.

One of the men covered him with the revolver while the other two with lightning rapidity tore off the box and all three then leaped into the machine and got away.

MAKES THRILLING ESCAPE FROM JAIL

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Thomas Moreland, described by the police as wanted in many cities for automobile thefts, escaped from the Charles Street Jail to-day by scaling the wall with the aid of a derelict rope and climbing over the roof of neighboring buildings while a construction gang gazed spellbound as if at a movie thriller.

Moreland, who is also known as Donald Moran, was not in jail uniform, and by the time the overlookers realized that he was an escaping prisoner and gave the alarm he had disappeared. He was arrested last Saturday and was awaiting trial on the charge of larceny of an automobile.

MOVIES ARE SHOWN ON MOVING TRAIN

ATLANTA, Aug. 27.—Passengers on the New York-New Orleans Limited of the Southern Railway straggled in their seats last night when a phonograph started. But their attention was completely captured when a movie screen was dropped and a show launched.

The pictures were made possible by a specially designed projector. Railway officials attending the demonstration said movies en route would be considered for most of the more important trains.

MAYOR OF CORK STILL ALIVE; JAIL CLOSELY GUARDED

British Officials in Ireland Oppose "Unbending Policy" of Lloyd George.

FEAR NEW OUTBREAK.

Volunteers Urge Sinn Feiners to Avoid Violence if Mac-Sweeney Dies in Jail.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Terence Mac-Sweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, to-day began the fifteenth day of his hunger strike in much the same condition as yesterday. He was weak this morning, but was conscious and able to speak a little.

It was said Mayor Mac-Sweeney might live another week if his lungs have not been attacked as a result of a previous illness.

A cordon of troops has been established about Brixton Prison and a very close guard is being maintained to prevent a recurrence of the disorder on Wednesday night.

In spite of the statement from Lloyd George that the attitude of the Government is unbending word comes from Ireland that the Dublin Castle officials are divided and that the dominant faction favors a more lenient policy. It is said that it was for this reason that Sir Harmer Greenwood went to Lucerne to visit Premier Lloyd George. Sir Harmer fears serious disorders in Ireland.

The statement was made to-day that the King, through Lord Stamfordham, his secretary, consulted with the responsible Ministers, but that the policy of the Government remains unchanged.

Replying to the appeal of the Irish Peace Conference in behalf of Mac-Sweeney, Home Secretary Shortt telegraphed to-day: "I am very sorry. The decision is the decision of the Cabinet and I cannot alter it."

Despatches from Dublin say that volunteer leaders have gone to Cork, where trouble is expected first, to maintain order and not to be led by what they regard as provocation into disastrous uprising. The volunteers, however, are not sure they can hold down the wrath of the people and fear such an increase in the struggle between the people and the soldiers as to amount virtually to rebellion.

It is stated on excellent authority that the difficulty about releasing Mac-Sweeney lies in a promise Premier Lloyd George gave to the military authorities in Ireland, when he put through the Coercion Bill. According to this informant the military authorities of Ireland, backed by Lord French, were against the Coercion Bill, and when the Government insisted in placing upon them the duty of enforcing it they insisted upon an agreement from Lloyd George promising not to interfere.

If Mac-Sweeney is permitted to die the Sinn Feiners of the south and west are expected to increase their political retaliation on the police and the military in Ireland, and it is considered possible the retaliation may strike higher, perhaps in England.

BUSINESS SECTION OF DUNDALK BURNT

Thirteen Persons Trapped, Three Perish—Sinn Fein Accused of Firing Town.

BELFAST, Aug. 27 (United Press).—The entire business section of Dundalk has been destroyed by fire, alleged to have been set by Sinn Fein sympathizers in reprisal for the burning of Catholic property in Belfast and Lismore by Unionists.

Thirteen persons sleeping in rooms over a dry goods store were trapped and three of them were burned to death.

CREWS ON BRITISH SHIPS HERE STRIKE IN PROTEST ON MACSWEENEY IMPRISONMENT

Incited by Placards of Women Picketing the British Consulate.

2,000 QUIT AT PIERS.

Forcible Removal of Archbishop Mannix Another Reason Given for Walkout.

Stirred by agitators picketing the British Consulate in protest against the sufferings and imminent death by hunger strike of Mayor Mac-Sweeney of Cork and by resentment against the forcible removal of Archbishop Mannix from the Baltic on his arrival in England, a spontaneous strike of longshoremen and engine-room crews on the Baltic and other British ships in this port gained formidable proportions Friday afternoon. The strike was not authorized by the Longshoremen's Union, but union officials did nothing to counteract it.

Two thousand longshoremen working on Baltic freight quit at a little after 4 o'clock last night after a committee of women pickets with placards denouncing the imprisonment of Mac-Sweeney passed the pier. The men formed in line to march to the pier of the Red Star Line.

They declared that by to-morrow morning no longshoremen would be at work on the Celtic, the Olympic, the Aquitania or any other British liner.

Others, firemen and stokers of the Baltic quit the ship soon after the longshoremen left the pier. The strikers promised each other they would not return to work until Archbishop Mannix was released by the British Government to travel as he pleased and until all the officers and men of the British crew of the Baltic were discharged from the service of the White Star Line.

Officers of the Baltic when she arrived in port admitted that it would have been the best policy to have landed Archbishop Mannix at Queens-town on the eastward voyage. They added that the prelate preserved his good humor when removed by English detectives, who told him it would be best to go quietly. He submitted with a show of dignity.

On the westward voyage nine priests of Irish parentage boarded at Cork harbor. They were taken to the Baltic on board a tender crowded with admirers waving Sinn Fein banners. Others of the 1,707 passengers were the Right Rev. E. V. Shayer, Episcopal Bishop of Nebraska; the Right Hon. W. A. Watt, formerly Australian Premier, and Australian representative to Spa. Sir Arthur Pease, and Charles H. P. Daniel, an English actor. Bishop Shayer said that British labor now has "soviets."

The women pickets sent this cablegram to Premier Lloyd George this afternoon: "The sound of death in the throat of Terence Mac-Sweeney is the death knell of your adventure in Ireland. We hear the bells tolling. The people are gathering. On your tanks. Polish up your guns."

"AMERICAN WOMEN PICKETS" British Consulate, New York City. The placards carried by the women started cheering among the workers, who joined the strike parade all along West Street. Some of them read: "The Baltic cleared with Mannix's blood; sing ye ho ho, for the stokers' word! And they dropped him down to a pirate horde—and their day's work was done!" "When Mannix goes to Ireland let the Baltic leave New York!" "British body snatchers are carrying off by force dying and unconscious Irish patriots to British jails!" They say: "Let them die!" Are you with us to stop these butchers?

NEW YORK DUCHESS WHO MAY MARRY DUKE DE CREUSOT

It is reported in New York and abroad that the Duke de Creusot, who gained notoriety as the last admirer of Gaby Deslys, is engaged to the Duchess de Claulines, formerly Theodora Shonts of New York. 40,000 RUSSIANS SLAIN AND 80,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

France Advises Poland to Push on Until Peace Has Been Signed.

PARIS, Aug. 27 (Associated Press).—The Foreign Ministry announced to-day that France had counseled Poland to attain the best strategic military position possible until peace is signed, regardless of her ethnographical frontier, because the military situation will influence the peace terms.

France has advised Poland, however, to withdraw her armies within the Polish frontier upon the signing of peace, the Foreign Office added. Eighty thousand Russian Soviet soldiers have been captured in Poland, 40,000 killed and 30,000 interned in East Prussia, according to the latest report received from the French Mission in Poland.

Gen. Weygand is quoted as saying the Poles should not advance too far eastward, but should entrench themselves along a line that can be easily held, so that they may be able to resist any effort on the part of Soviet

SUICIDE OF BRIGG, 'EVERYBODY'S PAL,' DUE TO LONELINESS

Man Who Gave Money to All Who Asked It Had No Real Friend.

BACKED MANY SHOWS.

Missed Genuine Companionship in Fear He Would Be "Buying" It.

What prompted Arthur Brigg, wealthy man about town, bon vivant, "angel" of shows, kindly of heart and generous with his purse—everybody's friend—to commit suicide by hanging himself in the cellar of his pretty home at Bound Brook, N. J., yesterday morning?

That is the question they are asking in Greenwich Village where he was well known and loved, and the question finds echo in his home town, for which he did so much, and in places where he was wont to indulge his tastes for gastronomic delights, both solid and liquid.

That the big fortune inherited from his father, who was a heavy stockholder in the Cunard Line, and which was added to by the death of his mother, has been dissipated finds no credence with those who are in a position to know. He did not promote the first Greenwich Follies, as has been said. He was only a small stockholder, and in Follies No. 2 it is said that he was unable to obtain any stock.

In Greenwich Village friends of the dead man think they have found the answer. It was loneliness.

He spent money with both hands. He delighted in doing so. On the opening night of the first "Follies" he bought $1,000 worth of flowers and sent them to the girls in the show, playing no favorites. No man appealed to him for aid in vain, and he never accepted a note or an "O. U."

"Forget it, old man," was his smiling rejoinder.

He was the O. Henry for the down and outs of the village. No man had to frame a "story" to get financial aid from Brigg. All he had to do was to ask for what he wanted and he got it.

He lived alone in his home in Bound Brook, and he was alone among the gay throngs in Greenwich Village to which he was often the host. He suffered the loneliness of the stranger in a big city, a greater loneliness than one feels in the heart of the desert. He was suspicious of friendships, feeling that he was buying them with his money, and that there was none among them he might take to his heart as a real friend.

He was everybody's friend and yet there were none that he might call friend; no chum, no companion—man or woman or dog.

He did good for others and the joy of giving was his only reward. He gave readily for civic improvements in his home town. But there was none with whom to talk over his affairs, his joys, hopes, disappointments, and so, in one of his moments of despondency, he ended his life.

Just lonely—that was all.

STOLE, TOOK AWAY WHOLE HOUSE THAT BELONGED TO NAVY

WILLIAM KELLY, a civilian employee at the navy base in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, was arraigned before Federal Judge Garvan in Brooklyn to-day, charged with the theft of a portable house. Kelly denied the theft, saying he had asked a contractor if he could have one of the houses and the contractor told him to take it along.

Kelly lives at No. 45 Diamond Street, Brooklyn. He was found guilty and sentence was put over until Sept. 6.

COX PROMISES MORE PROOF OF $15,000,000 G. O. P. FUND; TO GIVE IT WITHIN A WEEK

Governor, Passing Through City on Way to New Haven, Says Defence Against Charges Is Up to Republicans—Scoffs at Hays's Talk of $1,000 Contributions.

Gov. James M. Cox arrived at the Pennsylvania Terminal from Pittsburgh at 10.34 o'clock in his special car "Federal," and left for New Haven at 11.45 New York time. He appeared in fine fettle and greeted cheerfully the friends, politicians and newspaper men who were at the depot to meet him.

"You will have new leads about this fund in a week," he said just as his train started out.

Among those who welcomed the Governor were Chairman George White of the Democratic National Committee, Senator Pat Harrison, former Gov. Oswald West of Oregon, Homer S. Cummings, W. J. Cochran, Director of Publicity for the National Committee, Jimmy Cox, Jr., Daniel Mahoney, the Governor's son-in-law and the publisher of the Cox newspapers, and Mrs. Mahoney, the Governor's daughter.

"I'm going to make the Western trip with dad," said young Jimmy, who is about fourteen.

"Yes you are," retorted his brother-in-law. "When your dad finds out that school opens next month, there'll be nothing doing on the Western trip."

Jimmy gave him a glance that indicated what he thought of brother-in-law and the Mahoney one in particular.

Of course, every one was talking about the Governor's charges in his speech last night and the first question put to him by the newspaper reporters was: "Are you going to enlarge upon the speech?"

"It's a subject susceptible of a very large development," he answered with a smile, and while he would say nothing additional on the subject there was an intimation in his manner that there might be something still more startling in his speech in this city to-morrow. He was told that Mr. Hays had denied his quoted figures.

SAYS HIS FIGURES ARE ALREADY ADMITTED.

"It is a startling coincidence," replied the Governor, "that twenty-four hours after the figures were given out, the quotas of the cities of Cleveland, Chicago, Columbus and Pittsburgh were admitted to be correct. National Republican Treasurer Upham knows that the figures are correct."

When the Governor was informed that Will H. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, stated that individual campaign contributions would be restricted to $1,000 each, he said:

"Mr. Hays knows that such a statement isn't true. The methods used by the Republicans are to get some big fellow to give $20,000 or $25,000, after which nineteen or twenty-four dummy names are written down as contributors on the party's books. No one needs to worry about my not naming the sources of the funds which I have accused the Republicans of raising."

GOVERNOR SAYS HE'S READY TO TESTIFY BEFORE SENATORS.

Gov. Cox said that if the Senate committee investigating campaign funds really wished him to appear before it in Chicago, he would do so.

"The Senate Committee now has the necessary leads," he continued. "If it wishes to investigate, it will call in Republican State leaders and learn from them who the county and city leaders are and thus get all the details. I have every confidence that the Senate Committee will go to the bottom of my charges."

"A year ago I said that the Republicans were going back to the methods of Mark Hanna and that
